Proceedings of the Democracy at Springfield.

A VERY HARMONIOUS CONVENTION.

The Ticket Nominated-Extracts from the Platform-The Delegates Instructed

Springfield, Ill., April 27 .- One of the largest democratic conventions in the his tory of the state convenient in this city today. For forty-eight hours the city has been crowded with delegates and politicians. The great interest of recent arrivals centered in the sidential contest. Morning papers published a telegram from Senator Palmer. expressing his desire to leave the whole stion to the convention and indicating hat he would not be displeased to receive of the Illinois democracy.

This message from the senator had a some what demoralizing effect on the gentlemen to instruction, but it inspired his friends with enthusiasm that increased with each passing hour. The result of all this was Palmer men aggressive and confident and the Cleveland forces slightly discouraged, but resolved to make a vigorous fight against instructions for the Illinois candi-

Immediately after the meeting of the various congressional delegates and the selection of committeemen, the committee on resolutions met and began the preparation of the platform. The material points were quickly agreed upon. The McKinley tariff law was denounced, and the tariff planks of the democratic platforms of 1884 and 1888 reaffirmed. The financial plank declares for a gold and silver standard; the establishment of a currency that will be convertible without loss to the holder and the fixing of a ratio by an international may be maintained, and all confige. A declaration is made in favor of electing senators by popular vote and an unrelenting war on trusts and combines de-signed to degrade wage-earners is pro-

Ex-Coursessman J. R. Williams, of Carmi, was temporary chairman, and Clanter Crafts, speaker of the Illinois house of representatives, was permanent chairman.

A. E. Stevenson, A. W. Green, C. E. Crafts, B. T. Cable and N. E. Worthington, Walter T. Watson, John A. King, S. P. Chase were elected delegates at large. John P. Altgeld, of Chicago, and Gengal John C. Black were named candidates for nomination for governor, Altgeld was chosen on the first ballot. David Gore, of Macoupin county, was nominated for auditor of the state. Joseph B. Gill, of Jackson county, was nominated for lieutenant governor by acclamation, as was also W. acclamation, as was also W. H. Henrichsen, of Morgan county, for sec-retary of state. John C. Black, of Dan-ville, and Andrew J. Hunter, of Paris, were also nominated for congressmen at large

We recognise that the tariff is a tax and that all taxation is a burden. Where it is imposed justly and fairly to meet the necessary expenditures of an economical and prudent administration of public affairs, it will be cheerfully borne by the people. Where levied upon the suggestion of private greed to promote monopoly and extortion to build up fortunes of a few beneficiaries and favored classes at the expense of the general welfare, it is leavened with injustice and oppression, and the burden intolerable to freedom and inconsistent with every principle of sound government. The republican party has sought to fasten an injustions and oppressive system of taxation upon the American people. The effect of its legislation on this subject is to fetter trade and commerce, those swift of taxation upon the American people. The effect of its legislation on this subject is to fetter trade and commerce, those swift agencies of civilization and disarrange every element of industry to foster injurious combinations and enhance the prices of necessaries of life and to demoralize public confidence. We endorse to the fullest extent the putriotic administration of Grover Checkand and declare without reservation our full and complete approval of the views contained in his message to congress on the triff of 1887. We demand an immediate revision of the tariff, free raw material, a reduction of the duties on the necessaries of life and such changes in the shipping and navigation law as should restore the American merchant marine and the surremacy of the American fing on high seas.

We refterate our allegiance to the historic colley of the democratic party in favor of honest money, gold and silver colnage, provided by the constitution of the United States and a currency convertible into such coinage without loss to hold it, and we recommend an invitation by our government to the commercial powers of the world for an international conference for the purpose of fixing the ratio between the values of gold and silver, so that a parity may be maintained between the two metals, and all mints thrown open to free colnage.

achieved by the democracy of Illinois in the election of that grand man, patriot, soldier and statesman. General John M. Palmer, to the senate of the United States, and should it be deemed expedient to come to the great west for a candidate for the presidency to lead the democratic hosts to victory, we commend him to the favorable consideration of the national democratic convention and instruct our delegates to that convention to present his name and use all honorable means to secure his nomination.

Resolved, That the delegates chosen by this convention to the democratic national convention are hereby instructed to cast the vote of the state as a unit on all questions and candidates in accordance with the votes of a majority thereof.

The reading of the resolution was received with applause, and at the mention of Palmer's name three cheers were given for the "Great old Roman" of Illinois.

The resolution was adopted by acclamation, and the convention adjourned.

Sherman and Foraker Factions Have

Cleveland, O., April 27.—The republican state convention met here today at 2:30 o'clock, Charles P. Griffin, of Toledo, chairman. The complexion of the new state central committee is said to be a decided victory for the Sherman men. In the old committee the Foraker element had such a remarkable hold as to be able to defeat Major McKinley himself for the temporary chairmanship of today's convention. The new committee on the contrary, is admitted by the most tenacious Forakerites, as containing at least two majority for Sherman, with four more members doubted, but probably inclined to the senator.

W. S. Cappeller, former member from Sherman's home district, withdrew without taking a vote. Cappeller is a strong Foraker man. The first applause of the convention was given to a mention of McKinley. Judge King, chairman of the state central committee, in introducing Foraker as temporary chairman, stole a march on the latter gentleman, and, in a neat little address, contrived to name before any one else the great apostle of protection and omit any reference to Foraker.

Hearty applause was elicited instantly at McKinley's name, and the Foraker men were somewhat taken aback, but got their revenge when Judge King later on referred to Secretary Blaine. An uproar of applause followed from all sides of the hall, and was renewed several times. President Harrison's name was also liberally cheered. Chairman Griffin's carefully guarded progress up to the first utterance in the convention of the word "Foraker" was somewhat spoiled by the unexpected tactics of Judge King, in the McKinley applause incident. When the syllables "Foraker" were pronounced, hedlam seemed to have broken loose, the volume of noise decidedly surpassing anything that had been heard previously. When McKinley's name cidedly surpassing anything that had been heard previously. When McKinley's name was spoken later by Chairman Griffin, the Napoleonic governor's friends showed that they too had record-breaking lungs, and the waiter of the state of the sta they too had record-breaking lungs, and the excitement between the rival shouters would have been amusing were it not so intensely earnest. The reading of the roster of members of the various committees chosen by the district conventions helped to calm matters somewhat, but the delegates evidently above all things wanted to "holler," wholly unchecked, and when Mr. Dougherty, of Fayette county, in stentorian tones, moved to adjourn until tomorrow, so that all could attend the National League baseball game, where everybody could appland, the yeas rolled up a mighty majority, and the hall was deserted in a twinkling.

There is every probability of a serious conflict in the convention tomorrow over the delegates at large between Foraker and his friends and McKinley-Sherman-Harrison people. There is no sign tonight of a compromise; on the contrary, the factions grow wider apart as the hour grows later. IN BLAINE'S STATE.

vention-What They Did. Bangor, Me., April 27 .- The republican state convention met here today and was called to order by Chairman Manley, of the state committee. Hon. A. R. Savage, of Auburn, presided. General Thomas W. Hyde, of Bath, and M. Nash, of Cherryfield, were chosen presidential electors and the following delegates at large were cho-sen: Edmund B. Mallett, Freeport; Charles E. Littlefield, of Rockland; Edmund F. Webb, Waterville; John L. Cutler, of Bangor.

The platform declares that the Maine republicans pledge anew their faith in the great principle to which the party is committed—the protection of American labor, joined with its ally and handmaiden, reciprocity; sound currency for the people; the political rights of all citizens; purity of the ballot and a wise and prudent administration of the general government. They tration of the general government. They look with pride upon the record of distinguished representatives of the party in congress, and are glad to here express their congress, and are glad to here express their continued loyalty and devotion to the great statesman and leader. Secretary of State J. G. Blaine. They recognize their marked buccess. Their records are such that they will be recognized without platform or pledges, as able and unfaltering representatives of the party that stands for tariff protection of home industry and enterprise upon the lines of the McKinley law, including the raising of the necessary revenues by compelling for-eigners to pay for the privilege of exchang-ing their merchandise for our money, rath-er than by taxing our own citizens; free trade in articles which we cannot produce and upon which the tariff is a tax and a reciprocal arrangement which will open foreign markets to our own products without destroying the domestic demand; an honest currency, which cannot be used to rob the wage-workers, pensioners or other private or public creditors of their just dues, and which will be accepted for what it purports to be at all times and under all circumstances, without compulsion; a free ballot and an honest count, and the rule of the majority; the assertion of the nation's rights and defense of the nation's honor in all countries and upon all seas; the completion of a powerful navy and adquate coast and harbor defense; substantial support of the merchant marine; liberal appropriations for internal improvements; a prompt and generous settlement of the just claims of union veterans, and a sturdy defense of all else that goes to constitute aggressive and uncompromising redues, and which will stitute aggressive and uncompromising re-

NEW JERSEY REPUBLICANS.

The State Convention at Trenton-Dele gates to the National Convention. Trenton, N. J., April 27.—The republican state convention met at noon in Taylor's opera house. The platform adopted declares that New Jersey republicans record their full approval and endorsement of the wise and patriotic conduct of na-tional affairs under the executive control on President Harrison. The platform de-clares an abiding faith in the protective tariff system, and that the McKinley bill, in spite of misrepresentation, is approved by the calm judgment of the American people.

John J. Blair was chairman of the convention. Delegates at large to the national convention were chosen by acclamation: General William J. Sewell, of Camden; Garret A. Hobart, of Passaic; George A. Halsey, of Essex, and John J. Blair, of Warren.

Kearney, Neb., April 27.—The republicans at the convention met here today. United States Marshal Slaughter was made temporary and permanent chairman. There were no contesting delegations and the work of the convention went off without a hitch. Resolutions to vote for the renomination of Benjamin Harrison were passed amid much enthusiastic cheering. Edward Rosewater, editor of The Omaha Bee, was endorsed by an almost unanimous vote of the convention as national committeeman from Nebraska; and Asa Cobb, J. L. Webster, E. D. Webster and L. D. Richards were elected delegates at large. The gentlemen selected each renewed, in short speeches, their pledges to support Benjamin Harrison. Nebraska Republicans.

Cutting Down Appropriations.

Washington, April 27.—The annual fortifications appropriation bill has been practically agreed upon by the fortification subcommittee of the house committee on appropriations, though one or two items yet remain subject to possible revision. The members of the committee are Messrs. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, Forney, Livingston. Cogswell and Grout. A cut amounting to more than 35 per cent has been made from the bill of last year. This year's bill appropriates $2,408,700, being $1,366,-103 less than the bill of last year and $6,977,-907 less than the estimates. About the only item in the bill which was not cut was that for the finishing and assembling of eight-inch, ten-inch and twelve-inch sea coast guns at the army gun factory, which is increased $45,000 above the appropriation for the current year.

Lipschultz Leads. New York, April 27.—The fourth game between Lipschultz and Showalter was played today at the Manhattan Chess Club, when the former won a Vienna game after twenty-seven moves. Showalter lost the game by prematurely capturing a pawn, which left a mate in three moves on the board. The score now stands: Lipschultz, 1; Showalter, 0; drawn, 3. THE BILL WILL FAIL.

Paddock's Pure-Food Measure Will Not Pass.

WHAT WILL CAUSE ITS FAILURE Both Houses Busy on the Appro priation Bills.

THE RECENT ENLOE-RAUM DIFFICULTY.

The Commissioner Not Willing to Risk His Life in a Fight, but Enloc Is Watching Him.

Washington, April 27.-(Special.)-It appears practically assured that the Paddock pure food bill will not go through the house this congress. There is consid erable opposition coming from the repre entatives of commercial centers to both this bill and the anti-option bill. Some of the features of the anti-option bill most seriously objected to have been corrected in a measure and as the bill is termed a revenue measure, it has special privileges, and may be taken up at any time a majority will vote for it. It is therefore possible that the antioption bill may pass in some form. The pure food bill, however, is in a different position. It is not a revenue measure, has no special privilege, and is so earnestly opposed by city members that it will probably be easily killed by a fillbuster if there should ever be a chance to call it up.

Enloe and Ranm. There will be no further difficulty be tween Mr. Enloe and Commissioner Raum. Raum is no duellist and anounce that he cares for no satisfaction under the code from the Tennesseean. Enloe is, however, laving for the commissioner and announces that he will roast him when he comes before the investigating committee again. Mr. Enloe says the latest act of Raum's he has discovered is that clerk in the office employed to answer the telephone is receiving $37 a month for total deafness. He will ask Raum how a deaf man can manipulate the telephone. Mr. Enloe says this investigation will show Raum up to be such a rascal that Harrison will be forced to remove

New Jersey Will Go with New York. Ex-Congressman McAdoo, of New Jersey, is here. "New Jersey," said he, "will send an uninstructed delegation to the democratic convention. It will be composed of conservative men who will favor the nomination of the man trith whom the party is most likely to win. No, it will not be a Cleveland delegation. New Jersey and New York, you know, are very close politically, and generally go together. Of course our delegation would not go for any man New York opposed."

Congress Hard at Work. Both the house and the senate are on appropriation bills and both bodies are down to hard work. It is the disposition of the leaders of both branches of congress to adjourn as early as possible. reason why congress should remain in session after the middle of July. Speaker Crisp says the house will be ready to adjourn by the 1st of July.

Hubbard for Hill. Ex-Governor Richard B. Hubbard, of Texas, who was United States minister to Chinn, under the Cleveland administration, says, in an interview on the political situation:

"We must look to the east for a leader. though we may wish it might be other wise. I have always favored and spoken for free silver coinage, yet, believing that the greater issue was the tariff, I have been not only willing, but anxious, to see Mr. Cleveland renominated in 1892, though his views were not in harmony with the southern and western democracy on the silver question. I believed and hoped, until recent events in New York, that the divisions in that state would be healed, and dorsment of New York. He is a grand figure in our history. But I am for the success of the democratic party rather than for men, with all our grateful obligations acknowledged to them. Mr. Cleve-land cannot carry the New York delegation to the Chicago convention, and, therefore, I am persuaded that he is eliminated from the presidential contest. Believing this to be true, and that Senator Hill will dency, it is my earnest opinion that the na-tional convention should ratify that choice, Why not? The great state that will nomi-nate him with her seventy-two votes has implicit faith in his courage, democracy, integrity and fidelity to principle. It is notable, too, that all the daily papers in New York which are opposed to him are republican or 'mugwump'—composed of that element who seek control without the power to secure it. Hill has won signal and lasting civic victories in spite of oppo-sition of vindictive enemies, and has re-deemed New York and placed her in the undoubted democratic column for a quarter of a century to come. He has won these triumphs, too, while a republican adminis tration was in power, with its thousands of in New York.

"I know Senator Hill, and have a high regard for his ability, courage and states-manship. It is fashionable to say that Tammany endorses him, and, therefore, he is unclean; that he is a wire-worker, and a mere tactician. What blunders or crimes mere tactician. What blunders or crimes has he committed? He was Cleveland's lientenant governor, and warmly supported him, as I can testify, at Chicago in 1884. He was elected governor twice of the greatest state in the union, and has always been the bold and uncompromising advocate of tariff reduction and the 'Mills bill,' and utters no uncertain sound when he denounces the demonetization of the white metal and demands its equal restoration. If these are blunders and crimes, then he If these are blunders and crimes, then he is indeed the 'chief of sinners.'"

Governor Hubbard says Texas will ser an anti-Cleveland delegation to Chicago. Died on the Scaffold. Fort Smith, Ark., April 27.—Shephard Busby was hanged in the United States jail here, at 10 o'clock this morning, for the murder of Deputy United States Marshal Carney Connelly in Indian Territory last year. He talked half an hour on the scaffold, making out a case of self-defense. The old hangman, Maledonan, who has hanged his four score men from the same beam, did not execute Busby on account of an old friendship between them.

The Third Party Leaders Get Together in Augusta.

Augusta, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—The third party was organized in Richmond county tonight, at a mass meeting held at the courthouse.

J. M. Sego was chairman of the meetthe courthouse.

J. M. Sego was chairman of the meeting, which was organized by the election of the following executive committee from the city and militia districts; Allen Atchison, S. C. Reid, Sr.; James Barrett, S. C. Reidge, Moses Adkins, W. I. Clarke, A. H. Rooks, F. M. Clark, T. B. Hamilton, E. O. Beckman. The following were elected to the senatorial executive committee: Ed Holley, J. J. Hayden, J. C. Carpenter. James P. Hodo, W. J. Heming and W. C. Ross were elected congressional executive committeemen. There were about two hundred and fifty at the meeting, and C. C. Post met M. I. Branch and C. H. Ellington, who are running the third-party machinery in Georgia in the absence of Watson. Post made a speech on national politics, and arrayed labor against capital. He was quite severe in his reference to President Livingston of the state alliance. He said that, at Cincinnati, Livingston pledged, at an alliance meeting, to drive the alliance horse out of the democratic party. Post said he tried to get Livingston to send a Georgia alliance lecturer to try to break the back of the republican party, and that he offered to pay a part of the expense; but either Wall street or the democratic party got Livingston, and the lecturers were not sent west.

Ellington also spoke, but his speech, in substance, was the same he has reneatedly. were not sent west.

The power of democracy in Richmond county is too strong for third partyism to overcome.

THERE WILL BE A SPLIT, And Two Delegations Will Go to Minnesp-

Montgomery, Ala., April 27.—(Special.) The republicans, principally colored, are overrunning the city tonight, being gathered from all parts of the state, to attend the state convention, which will be held here tomorrow. The main struggle is over the chairmanship of the state executive committee, for which there are three avowed candidates—Dr. R. A.Moseley, Jr., of Talladega, white, the present incumbent, and two colored men—Nathan Alexander, of this city, and William Stevens, of Anniston. olis from Alabama.

Dr. Moseley is collector of revenue for this district; Nathan Alexander is receiver of public moneys in the land office here, while Stevens is one of the survivors of the 306 who stuck so faithfully to Grant, at Chicago, in 1880. Moseley has been chairman for several terms, and has the machinery on his side, and the opposition charges that he placed four deputy marshals in the capitol building today with instructions to keep everybody out of the convention hall temorrow morning except those holding tickets of admission, issued by his order.

The opposition went to the governor's office this afternoon and informed the custodian of the capitol that Moseley proposed to quarter his marshals in the building all night. The custodian prohibited this, and the opposition is in great glee, feeling that a victory has been scored over the chairman. Dr. Moseley is collector of revenue for this district; Nathan Alexander is receiver

The outlook now promises that there will be a split tomorrow—two conventions and two delegations to Minneapolis. The grand old party in Alabama is in the throes of President I son, in the presence of his cabinet thousands of citizens, laid the granite upon which is to be built a tomb worthy of the nation and the nation's hero. Around the space where the monument will be reared was arranged a platform. On this were gathered the president, Mrs. Grant and family and 2,487 committeemen, through whose efforts the fund was raised. Near-by was another platform, which accommodated 300 members of the Loyal Legion. A few minutes before 2 o'clock the Marine band made the air resound with the national air, "Hail to the Chief." After the strains had died away, Rev. Dr. John Hall, of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, offered up a prayer. Then General Horace Porter, president of the Grant Monument Association, spoke. When he concluded, the corner stone was swung into place, and President Harrison placed the first cement upon it with a trowel made of gold.

Chauncey M. Depew then delivered the oration of the day.

The ceremony was concluded by firing a salute of twenty-one guns by the monitor Miantonomah, which lay in the waters of the Hudson, adjacent to the scene of the ceremonial.

ACCOUNTING FOR HIS ABSENCE.

Why Governor Tillman Will Not Be Certain Political Meetings. Columbia, S. C., April 27.-(Special.) Governor Tillman will leave Columbia for Washington next Saturday, for this reason: The proposed debates at Spartanburg, on the 30th instant, and Laurens, on the 2d of May, have been indefinitely postponed. Governor Tillman goes to Washington for the purpose of securing $9,000 interest on the direct tax fund, this being the amount claimed that the United States is withholding from South Carolina claimants. The fact that Governor Tillman will, from necessity, be unable to attend either the Spartanburg or Laurens meetings is being used by his opponents to have it appear that Tillman is unwilling to meet Sheppard at Spartanburg on account of the fierce opposition to him at that place. This, however, is hardly probable, as Governor Tillman had positive appointments with the government officials at Washington before either of the above named dates were fixed. Governor Tillman will leave Columbia for

THE TIMES OFFICE GOES UP IN SMOKE.

The Reporters and Printers Get a Move on Them-Several Actors Reported

Philadelphia, April 27.-(Special.)-The nost sensational fire that has visited this city in years broke out shortly before 8 o'clock tonight on the stage of the Grand Central theater, and before it was gotten under control nearly a million dollars worth of property had been destroyed, including the massive eight-story annex building occupied by The Times newspaper. In the panic in the theater, over fifty persons, mostly occupants of the galleries, were hurt; none, however, seriously. The Central theater is located on Walnut street between Eighth and Ninth, in the most thickly settled portion of the city, being surrounded by hotels, restaurants, boarding houses, newspaper offices and business houses. Immediately in the rear of the theater was The Times building, which faced on Sansom street, The theater was usually devoted to variety performances, but this week Manager Gilmore, who is interested in several spectacular productions, had one of them, "The Devil's Auction," on his stage. Just before 8 o'clock, while the stage hands were lowering a portion of the setting for the first scene it became entangled in the border lights. In an instant the flimsy canvas was a mass of flames. Tongues of fire shot up to the roof and the blazing scenery fell to the stage and in a short space of time the entire rear portion of the theater was a mass of fire. The production requires the service of a large number of female choristers and ballet dancers. These stood in the wings and about the stage in scanty attire waiting for the performance to begin. They were thrown into panic and rushed about, scarcely knowing which way to turn to avoid the quickly spreading flames. All were, it is believed, gotten safely out, although a report is out that three women connected with the ballet were in their dressing rooms and have not been seen since. Police and theater people say, however, that all the company have been accounted for.

Scenes On the Street While the panic was in progress behind the scenes, a scene of even more intense excitement was being enacted before the footlights. Fortunately, the house was only partially filled. The audience had just set-tled down in their seats, awaiting for the beginning of the performance, when they were startled by the flash that came when were started by the high that came when the scenery caught on fire, which could be plainly seen through the lowered curtains. The next minute a bright white flame shot through the curtain, and those composing the audience realized that they were face the audience realized that they were ince to face with that most awful of situations—a theater fire.

Everybody started for the exit; the weaker ones were borne down and crushed under foot. One individual, maddened and brutalized by the excitement, drew a pocketince and with the orbit way the started brutalized by the excitement, drew a pocketknife, and with it cut his way through the mass of people. Half a dozen, or more, people were found at the hospital who had been the victims of his frenzy. None of their wounds, however, were of more than a painful character. This man was the first one to reach the sidewalk. Men and boys fell on the stairway leading from the galleries, and were bruised and scratched under the heels of those following them.
In all, fifty-two persons were cared for at two hospitals near the theater. Everybody was outside the burning structure within two minutes from the time the fire started.

Panic-Stricken Ballet Girls.

Panic-Stricken Ballet Girls. The wildest excitement prevailed on the streets. Ballet girls, in gauze and tights, rushed bareheaded around, almost all of them, in a histerical condition. The fire spread with marvelous rapidity, and, by spread with marvelous rapidity, and, by the time the fire apparatus reached the scene, the theater was a mass of flames. Looming away up above the rear of the theater was The Times annex building, occupied on the seventh floor by the editorial force, and on the eighth by the composing and stereotyping forces. The city department of The Times was in the rear of the building, the windows of its rooms overlooking the rear of the theater. One of the reporters saw from a window the flames shoot through the roof of the theater. His cry of alarm warned everybody in the room. Assistant City Editor Wilson grabbed his assignment book and started for the elevator, followed by all of the editors and reporters.

Reporters and Printers Skip Out Nobody thought of stopping to secure clothing or other property, the main idea being to get to the street, seven stories below, as quickly as possible. Everybody

The scenes in the composing room, where about seventy-five people were at work, were of the same character. The printers rushed from their cases, not stopping to gather any of their belongings.

On the sixth floor was the illustrating department of The Times, and also the rooms of the American Press Association. The fifth floor was unoccupied. The first, second, third and fourth floors were occupied by DeKosenko & Hetherington, art metal workers. Their plant was one of the most valuable of its kind in the country.

The wind was blowing in the direction to carry the flames from the theater to the newspaper building, and in a few minutes the latter structure was on fire. By 8.50 o'clock the entire interior had been gutted. At that hour the west wall and a portion of the east wall fell, the former crushing in a large portion of the one-story power house of the Philadelphia Traction Company, which contained two immense engines, recently put in position, which propelled the company's street cars over the lower section of the city. These engines are covered with bricks and debris to the depth of twelve feet, and it will be several weeks before the cables can be operated.

The Falling Walls.
The east wall crushed a four-story buildmanufacturing jewelers, and portions of several buildings below it, on Eighth street, between Sansom and Walnut streets. The front wall filled Sansom street with bricks and stone, and damaged buildings opposite. In the cellar were the new presses of The

On Eighth street, from Sansom to Walnut, were eleven buildings, each having several tenants, and all occupied on the first floors by storekeepers. Three of these were completely gutted, and others were all badly damaged. Adjoining the theater on the west was the Poulston house. The roof was burned and the building soaked with water. Next was the building of Taggart's Sunday Times, Its roof was burned, and the composing room, on the top floor, filled with water. The presses and other property were covered with tarpaulins, and escaped injury.

An Audience Dismissed.

Above the Grand Central at Ninth and Walnut streets, stands the historic old Walnut street theater. Sidney Rosenfeld's new play, "Imagination," is presented this week and the house was well filled. There was great dauger that this house would catch fire. The performance was postponed and the audience quietly dismissed. On the north side of Sansom street the principal loser is James S. Earle, dealer in high-class pictures. The rear room of his building, which extends from Chestnut street, was damaged by fire and much water was thrown on his stock. The Continental hotel occupied about one-third of the block bounded by Eighth, Ninth, Chestnut and Sansom streets. It was feared that this well-known streeture would catch fire as the wind was carrying the flames from The Times building directly toward it. A considerable portion of the fire department was detailed to protect the hotel and their efforts were successful, an immaterial outward scorching being the only result of its contact with the flames.

Colonel A. K. McClure, editor of The Times, lost his invaluable political übrary, which he has been collecting during the past fifty years, and which can never be replaced. The blaze was visible in all parts of the city and thousands flocked to the scene, completely blocking the streets in the vicinity.

The losses, as near as can be estimated, are as follows: Central theater, building, $82,000; insurance, $40,000; costumes and scenery of "The Devil's Auction," $16,000; insurance, $7,500; "Twelve Temptations," $18,000; insurance, $7,500; "Sea King," $22,000; no insurance.

The Times estimates its loss at about three hundred and fifty thousand dollars, exclusive of its files, which cannot be replaced, and of Colonel A K. McClure's library of political text books, an invaluable collection of fifty years of his life. Dr. Lambdin also lost a collection of papers, which he has gathered in twenty years. Lambdin also lost a collection of papers, which he has gathered in twenty years. Other losses are represented by three presses, valued at $130,000, which lie beneath the ruins, in the basement; engines, $20,000; type, $10,000; stereotyping machines, $18,000. The building, $0x120 feet, and eight stories high, was estimated at $100,000. The whole is insured at about two-thirds its value. DeKosenko & Hetherington's loss, manufacturers of art metal work, will reach at least $100,000.

Mr. McLaughlin, proprietor of The Times, was seen late tonight. He was inclined to take his loss philosophically and said that there was no use worrying over inclined to take his loss philosophically and said that there was no use worrying over the matter now, that the building was destroyed. He said the burned structure would be rebuilt at once and in the meantime an effort would be made to get the paper out from the old Times building at the corner of Eighth and Chestnut streets. As the confusion following the fire somewhat subsided the casualties were found to be more serious than was at first supposed. Forty-one people were admitted from Pennsylvania hospital, most of them suffering from burns, and of the forty-one about twenty are in a serious condition. Their injuries are mainly about the face and many, it is feared, have been blinded for life by the fierce fire they fought their way through.

A bomb was exploded in a church at Monte Totondo today, but caused only slight damage. A dynamite cartridge was exploded in the house of a wealthy family in Rome last evening, causing very little damage. Two arrests have been made in connection with the latter explosion.

A dispatch from Reggio, the capital of the province of Reggio Nell Emila, in northern Italy, states that a band of socialists attempted to hold a parade in the streets of that city today. They marched along singing "The Workingman's Hymn," and acted so disorderly that the police were compelled to disperse them. A slight resistance was made, but the mob soon scattered. Five of the leaders were arrested. of the leaders were arrested.

Naples, April 27.—Considerable excitement was caused here today by a report that anarchists had attempted to blow up the old treasury department. A dynamite cartridge exploded under the building, but it is not believed that it was placed there by anarchists. Only trifling damage was done. The police are trying to find out who put the cartridge there.

Better Not Keen It at All.

Better Not Keep It at All. Vienna, April 27.—In order to prevent workmen from stealing cartridges from dynamite factories and selling them at a low price, the police have ordered that everybody using dynamite must have a certificate showing where it was bought. Failure to produce such certificate will be visited by the severest penalties.

Berlin, April 27.—The German frontier is being strictly watched in order to prevent an influx of French anarchists into Germany.

The League's Executive Committee Will Meet Today.

The executive committee will meet today. The object of the meeting is to take some action in regard to defraying the expenses of several distinguished orators who will be invited to come to Georgia and deliver democratic addresses in the next few weeks.

The gentlemen will be invited here by the state democratic executive committee and the rallies at which they will speak will be held under the auspices of the committee, but it is proposed that the Young Men's Democratic League of this city bear the small expenses such meetings will incur. It is proposed that the opening rally be held in Atlanta on the night of May 18th.

The family is still in the city. Day before yesterday the members informed the decetives that they would be unable to leave within the short space of twenty-four hours, and asked for an extension of time. Detective Looney yesterday placed the matter before Recorder Calhoun and he left the entire affair to the discretion of the officers. They have since allowed the Bones five day in which to go.

which they now live, and will need some times in which to dispose of their property. It may be even necessary to have the old man, who is now at Dade, sign some papers before they can sell it.

From present appearances there are chances that the family may finally decide not to go. If they should conclude to remain they will be promptly rearrested and made to pay their lines, amounting to $152.25 is all, or serve on the public works a corresponding time.

But the Bones will undoubtedly leave, and are now themselves perplexed over their future location. They may separate and scatter, or remain together and under an assumed name begin lite anew elsewhere.

Their stay or departure is optional with them.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY Bob Turner, a drayman in the empt, of Mr. J. B. Daniel, the druggist, was arrested last night and locked up on the charge of passing counterfeit money.

About 8 o'clock he went into the bar at the corner of Decatur and Collins streats and presented a quarter for drinks. It had every appearance of being a poor counterfeit and the proprietor promptly and forcibly ejected him from the place, and then turned him over to an officer.

Patrolman Ethridge arrested Turner and brought him to police headquarters. What searched several more coins like the one had presented were found on him.

They were quarters and dimes, and on commination proved to be very cleverly executed. Turner will be held pending further investigation.

WESLEYAN YOUNG LADIES.

Final Musical Recitals in Progress at That Institution.

Macon, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Some years ago the custom of closing the music term at Wesleyan with a series of nine musical recitals by proficient young ladies was instituted by the faculty of the college. These recitals begin this afternoon with a series of selections rendered by Miss Jeanette Allred, of Monticello, Fla., who is this year's valedictorian.

The other young ladies who will render selections during the coming eight school days are Miss Lucy Chapman, Kate Brown, Annie Cheatham, Annie Lipey, Margaret Moore, Mary Muse, Daisy Peddy and Pauline Pugh.

The recitals are not public but the young ladies have issued very attractive invitations for the entertainments and only those who receive them are expected to be present.

Carroll County Farners Find More Money in It Than Cetton.

Carrollton, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—Mr. A. A. Simonton, a good all-around Carroll county farmer, has a gray mare that has brought him out more money than a big cotton crop. The mare is fourteen years old, and Mr. Simonton has sold six hundred dollars' worth of horses from her, and has on hand $200 more. This mare has done good service for twelve years on the farm and to the wagon. This is a good lesson to the farmer readers of The Constitution. It shows that there is good money in raising horses in Georgia.

Mr. Isaac N. McLendon, another good farmer of this county, has raised fifty mules in the past ten or twelve years, which were as fine as any mules that have been sold here from Kentucky or Tennessee.

THOUSAND PEOPLE

Will Go Out to East Lake Today with Picnic Party.

THE GROUNDS OVERRUN WITH VISITORS

Thousand Bathing Suits Ordered-The Boathouse Ready and Bathing Soon. The Pavilion Coing Up.

People are going out there every day by the score, and on Sunday in great crowds. "There cerleny wuz people here Sunday,' said the negro driver who runs the hack said the negro driver who runs the lack from the dummy station to East Lake. "Every day they comes here—lots of 'em, but Sunday it wuz like camp meetin'," said the same sable informant. He is a cornfield darky, and not likely to be employed as a real estate agent or an edvertising may for the company of the buying something. I've seed 'em buy ten lots at a time. It wan't no longer'n yistiddy when a man bought six of 'em at clip."

Mr. Hampton, the manager, had gone off when this conversation occurred. He is such a busy man that he does not stop to say much about the talk he hears about the big enterprise he is engineering. It is the fact that interests him, and the sole points of the project are all he presents to the visitor, leaving him to go round and investigate the details at his leisure. It was only after questioning that he let out the information that $35,000 worth of lots had been sold in a few months. The truth is, very little has been said about East Lake in proportion to its merits. It may be that this is the reason why the prices have not been raised. They might have been boomed up easily, if the management had been so disposed, but Mr. Hampton's energy is concentrated now on doing the work that is to complete the park. His idea is to get it ready, and open it as a pleasure resort right away. The work on the pavilion is in progress; a large force is grading a fifty-foot driving track around the lake, and another force is making a twenty-foot bicycle track inside the storm ditch around the big sheet of water. This gives a carriage drive, or a bicycle run of nearly two miles. It is 10,000 feet around the lake.

The boathouse is up, and will be ready for use when the lake rises ten inches more. The bathhouses will be up in a few days.

This will be a great place for bathing. Said Mr. Hampton the other day:

"I have ordered 1,000 bothing suits, and will have them here in a week or so. We intend to have bathing in comfort. We will put on a coupon ticket for a return trip to the lake, with bath included, for 35 cents—possibly for 25 cents."

There will be a picnic at East Lake today, and Mr. Hampton expects to take 1,000 people out. The dummy leaves the Gate City bank corner every hour as the clock strikes, and it will take you out in thirty minutes.

Found in the Pocket of a Man Arreste for Vagrancy.

Waycross, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—A. A. Godwin and Mus Powlidge, negroes, were arrested here last night for vagrancy, and sentenced to twenty days on the chaingang. Godwin is a very suspicious looking character. He is of dark gingercake color, about twenty years old, five feet three inches tall and weighs about one hundred and fifty pounds; has large eyes, small mustache, side whiskers, several small scars on legs and feet, two of his front teeth out; wears check snit, with overalls; claims Williamsburg, S. C., as his home, but it said to have been there but once in five years. Says he has worked at the following points: Louisville, Fla., on Sewanee river; Cecil, Ga.; also, near Cordele and Cochran, Ga. In his valise were found two letters, one a receipt for $2, dated Sparta, signed T. T. Swilley; the other dated Lumberton, N. C., March 1st, and addressed to Godwin. The letter, which is very illegible, winds up as follows: "Did you kill the man? Is he dead?" signed W. J. Campbell. There is evidently something wrong with Godwin, as he denies knowing anything about this letter. He don't even know how it got in his possession, and he has never been in North Carollina.

Accident to a Candidate.

Cartersville, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—
Colonel W. W. Rich, an old and respected citizen, a resident for years of Bartow county, departed this life, in Gadsden, Ala. His remains were interred in the city cemetery at this place today.

Captain Peter Larry, a farmer and prospective candidate for the legislature on the third party platform, shot himself in the palm of his hand yesterday in an effort to load a pistol.

The farmers are very busy in this section planting cotton and corn. Accident to a Candidate Middlesboro, K.J., 'April 27.—(Special.)—Quite a bloody affair occurred near the tannery this afternoon between negroes and white men over a game of craps. J. H. Blankenship, a white man, accused a negronamed Bloom of cheating. The negrodrew a razor and advanced upon Blankenship who drew a pistol and fired. The ball took effect just above the heart. The negro fell and expired. Blankenship then fied, but was pursued and captured by Officers Douglas and Jones and lodged in Middlesboro jail.

GONE FOR FUNDS

With Which to Stem the Anti-Cleveland Tide in South Carolina

THE STATE ADMITTEDLY FOR HILL

The Political Situation in South Carolina The Tillman-Sheppard Contest-A Prohibition Convention.

Constitution Bureau,112 1-2 Main Street Columbia, S. C., April 27.—(Special.)—It is being whispered about the statehouse to-day that the Hon. Samuel Dibble, chairman of the Sheppard executive committee, has gone to New York, not on railroad bus-iness, as is currently reported, but to procure funds to promote the Cleveland-Shep-pard interests in South Carolina. It is a well-known fact that Governor Tillman opposes Mr. Cleveland on principle as well as poses Mr. Cleveland on principle as well as policy.

In giving this as news your correspondent only repeats what has been said in his presence and is in no wise responsible for the truth or falsity of the statement. Mr. Cleveland is being supported by the opponents of Governor Tillman, but this in itself is hardly evidence enough upon which to found the rumor as above stated.

Senator J. L. M. Irby passed through the city yesterday en route to Laurens.

He spent the night with Governor Tillman at the executive mansion, and, after a long consultation over the status of political affairs in South Carolina, he left for his home in Laurens. Senator Irby thinks that Hill still leads in the presidential race and will be the nominee of the democratic party. He will certainly receive the vote of South Carolina in the national convention.

The Situation in the State.

The Situation in the State.

The political situation in South Carolina, at this time, presents a very different front from that presented this time two years ago, and it is thought by Governor Tillman's opponents that the sudden appearance of Senator Irby, the chairman of the state executive committee, means that the Tillman faction has begun to realize the true situation of affairs to get down to hard work and thereby secure for the next two years the political power they have for two years past enjoyed.

The democratic state convention is to be two years the pointcal power they have for two years past enjoyed.

The democratic state convention is to be held here on the 18th of May next, for the purpose of electing delegates to the national democratic convention to be held at Chicago. It is generally believed by both factions of the democratic party in the state that the Tillman element will control the convention and that South Carolina will send a "Hill delegation" to Chicago, though some of Mr. Cleveland's most earnest supporters seem to cling to a fond delusion and, like Dickens's "Mr. Micawber," "looks for something to turn up."

fond delusion and, like Dickens's "Mr. Micawber," "looks for something to turn up."

The next "joint" debate on the political situation and the many and diverse "stumpy rows" that have to be hoed in South Carolina in politics, will take place at Laurens on the 2d of May, and it is expected that the "administration howlers" will be at their post and ready for duty.

As regards the much-mooted question, "Who holds the balance of power, Tillman or Sheppard?" the only correct way to arrive at any just conclusion "at this stage of the game" is to take each side's force in the respective thirty-five counties in the state and it will be found that the situation will about be as follows:

It is generally asserted that Tillman will carry Mariboro, Marion, Horry, Georgetown, Williamsburg, Florence, Darlington, Chesterfield, Lancaster, Kershaw, Clarendon, Colleton, Hampton, Barnwell, Orangeburg, Aiken, Lexington, Edgefield, Newberry, Chester, York, Union, Laurens, Abbeville, Anderson, Greenville, Fickens and Oconee counties, while the opposition will orobably carry Richland, Charleston, Beaufort, Herkeley, with Spartanburg, Fairfield and Sumter doubtful, though the "straightouts" claim several of the counties above conceded to Tillman.

I met today a very prominent old confederate soldier, who stands high in the political councils of South Carolina. He talked very freely and, when asked about the political condition of South Carolina is peculiar. A convention claiming to represent a conservative element in the democratic party met in Columbia in March and put forth the Sheppard-Orr ticket. It is thought by many that the real spirit which called this convention was the Haskell-Gonzales faction, who botted the nomination in 1890.

and put forth the Sheppard-Orr ticket. It is thought by many that the real spirit which called this convention was the Haskell-Gonzales faction, who bolted the nomination in 1890.

"There were two factions opposed to Tillman, one represented by The State, the Haskell organ, the other represented by The News and Courier and The Greenville News. It is very evident to a careful observer that there was an understanding that the Gonzales-Haskell element should not take a prominent part in the convention. It is the opinion of many that Sheppard and Orr were nominated merely as a tentative measure to test the pulse of the people, and that Sheppard's vanity was tickled by being put forward by men who willingly sacrificed him to their hatred of Tillman. The deliberate intention of the controlling spirits in the movement being to take the remote chance of defeating Tillman in the primaries and if that was impossible to bolt again in the hope of carrying more white votes with them. This crisis is near at hand, the May convention will be ten to one for the administration, the meeting in Greenville, Orr's home, was overwhelmingly against him and it was the same in Edgefield, the home of Sheppard and Tillman, and in spite of what the papers say, it is true, and the shrewd politicians who are using Sheppard as a battledore and shuttlecock, recognize the fact that the masses are behind the farmers' administration.

"The Greenville News, in an editorial remasses are behind the farmers administration.

"The Greenville News, in an editorial recently, threatened that 25,000 whites representing the brain and property of the state would take the negro and overrun the rabble supporting Tillman. The News and Courier says Tillman can be defeated if they can get one-third of the white vote at the November election. It is absolutely impossible for an outsider to get anything like a fair idea of politics in South Carolina from the newspapers. The truth is that four-fifths of the white people of South Carolina are solid for Tillman and that nothing short of a political miracle can change them, and that any attempt to overawe the democratic vote of the state is bound to fail."

UNEQUAL RATES Sawmill Firm Asks for an Adjustm

Garbett & Co., sawmill men, petitioned the commission to adjust the discrimination of the Wrightsville and Tennille. This firm is charged $7 per carload of lumber for twenty-one miles, while another firm pays $3 per car for a haul of nine miles. If the latter firm paid the usual rates, its freight would be $5 per car. The petitioners do not claim that they are charged excessive rates, but that there is discrimination in favor of the other firm.

President Wood, of the Wrightsville and Tennille railroad, stated that when the line was young it made a contract with a certain firm to give it a rate of $3 per car, wided the firm supplied six cars per day, and hauled the same. This contract was to last ten years. At the time it was made, the Wrightsville and Tennille did not have the rolling stock to handle this traffic itself, and the revenue derived from the firm was an important item.

President Wood stated that it would be to the advantage of his road if the contract were broken, but he considers it the company's duty to abide by it.

For Sale, April 28th, That Grand Lot on Southeast Corner of Pryor and Houston Streets, AT 12 O'CLOCK.

HERE is perhaps one of the most desirable corners in the city of Atlanta. It fronts on Peachtree, Pryor and Houston streets in the most attractive way lunaginable, is right under the very eaves or the great Equitable building that cost a cold million, while just a few hundred feet to the south a magnin-cent Masonic temple is soon to be erected on one corner and The Atlanta Journal will put up a modern structure on the opposite corner of Wheat and Pryor that will be unsurpassed by anything in this country. Now is certainly a most opportune time to place money in the heart of this growing and prosperous city. We sail know that the gradual enhancement of real estate beats any business in the world, especially when you buy in the right place. Every inch of this lot is worth big money, and the day will never come when it can be bought cheaper than now. Then only it and take in the benefits. The men that have the nerve to back their own judgment and buy good real estate on Pryor street are bound to grow rich. Atlanta is just in her infancy. For Sale On the Premises Monday, May 2, 1892

At 12 O'clock. A Very Valuable Lot. 45x90 Feet On Pryor Street.

45x90 Feet On Pryor Street.

JUST OPPOSITE the courthouse. A 20-foot alley runs from Pryor west along the entire south line, making the lot accessible and capable of being thoroughly ventilated and lighted. Here is the place to build stores and offices. The old station house has dropped into hands that will properly improve and beautify it. The stables on the opposite side are now giving way to progress, and soon the present enterprising owner will run up a splendid eight story house visavis the magnificent Kleer block that will rival any structure in the south. Cast your eyes up and down Pryor street. Millious of dolars have already been spent on the street, and yet the work is hardly begin. Pryor today has no equal in Atlanta, grander possibilities belong to Pryor than any street in this city. Doubtless a very large sum of money will be expended at once in enlarging the courthouse, which is just opposite this lot. Business houses are in great sum or money will be expended at once in enlarging the courthouse, which is just opposite this lot. Business houses are in great demand right now. On this block can be had the very best of tenants. Can be had men that are able and willing to pay liberal rents for first-class city stores or offices. REMEMBER the influx of capital and population causes a constant, steady increase in Atlanta real estate values.

TERNS, one-quarter cash, balance one, two and three years, 7 per cent.

FOR SALE TUES. MAY 3. ON THE PREMISES

AT 12 O'CLOCK

Here is central gilt-edged rent-paying real estate right in the very heart of Atlanta to be sold to the highest bidder in order to make a division among the heira, otherwise money could not buy it. The block corner of De-catur and Ivy streets STANDS AT THE HEAD OF LOYD STREET and looks into the union depot, Markham and kimball houses. No better corner can be found in Atlanta for an elegant banking house. The bold position this corner holds and the general topography of all these corners makes this one the central gem of all. With a suitable front of display windows this would make a grand place for a first-class jewelry or crockery business. Simply because this place has not been more elaborately built it is no reason on earth why it does not contain grand possibilities. Proper buildings always insure the proper renter. There is a big come out for this property. Ivy and Decatur streets have more future prospects than any streets have more future prospects than any streets leading out from the center of the city, and right new improvements on Decatur street. The city is spending thousands of good dollars in their new improvements on Decatur street and in less than one year I predict a most radical increase in value, 'its bound to come. Look here, if real estate in other cities of the same population as Atlanta is worth $2,500 PER FRONT FOOT near the center of those places, what is our ground worth per front foot? Atlanta is acknowledged to have no equal in the south. Capital is coming here from all over the United States seeking investment; why, because they suy real estate never declines here, but usually makes the owner rich. TERMS one-third cash, balance one and two years, a ner cent interest. years, 8 per cent interest.

teduced Rates to the State Convention. The Constitution has received many niries from the delegates elected to he state democratic convention of May 8th, asking if the railroads will not ffer reduced rates for that occasion.

The matter has been laid before Comioner Stahlman and Assistant Comsioner Slaughter by The Constitution with the request that the railroads of e state allow a one fare rate for delerates to the convention.

The commissioner assures The Constiition, and through it the delegates to he state convention, that the matter will considered at once, and referred to several railroads of the state.

It is to be hoped that the reilroads will raut a reasonable reduction, for the state invention will probably be attended by re than the usual number of delegates if a low rate is offered. Well Done!

When Recorder Andrew Calhoun suspended sentence in the blind tiger case against the notorious Bone family, on condition that the defendants would leave the state inside of twenty-four hours, he did a good thing for Atlanta and for Georgia.

The enforcement of the usual penalty of the law would have left these criminals free in a short time to continue their evil work in this community. The recorder saw that a heroic remedy was needed. and he cut the Gordian knot of the difficulty by suggesting voluntary exile as the best thing for the Bones.

The criminals accepted the alternative, and hereafter they will have to stay out of Georgia, or be punished under the sentence, which is merely suspended, if Under all the circumstances, Recorder Calhoun could not have done a better thing for the community, and possibly the Bones, when they find themselves beginning life again in a distant home. will turn over a new leaf and keep on the safe side of the law.

This case shows that when a judge wisely exercises the discretionary power confided to him he may sometimes find outside of the routine penalties of the law a remedy that will serve the cause of justice and public morals better than anything else could.

One of the Many.

It is a singular fact that nearly all of the men concerned in the prosecution of Guiteau have come to some bad end, as the assassin predicted, when he cursed them in his dying hour.

The latest victim is one of the prosecut ing lawyers, Charles H. Reed, formerly the state's attorney in Chicago. He died, the other day, in Baltimore a pauper and complete wreck.

Guiteau's curse had nothing to do with this man's ruin, and the theory that whisky caused it is not altogether correct. Twenty years ago he was the most brilliant man in Chicago. At the bar and in politics he was a favorite. He talked Greek like a professor, loved the pursuits of the learned, and yet threw himself into the sports and pastimes of little children with all the heartiness of a boy. He was kind, generous and considerate. But this man was all impulse. He had no principle-no aim in life. Peo ple soon found that his bright better ngture could not be relied upon. He was liable in the most unexpected way to disappoint his friends and do just what honor, duty and policy required that he should not do.

As a Chicago paper sums him up-"he was never in earnest."

Many-sided and magnetic, making himself a power in politics by his winning ways, and rising at the bar by sheer force of talent, it surprised everybody to see him wreck his fortunes.

After the Guiteau case he became s dissipated and unreliable that there was no chance for him to regain his old position. He descended lower and wwer. and died almost an outcast.

in the Chicago paper tells the whole story. He had no settled belief-no fixed principle, and so he was blown about like a bubble on the water by every capricious wind until the inevitable collapse came.

Reed is fat and funny. He thinks he ought to be president.

Mr. W. D. Howells is trying to st Walt Whitman as a poet. His last effort in Harper's Magazine is a tremendous one, but he will have to do better than that.

The Chicago Tribune says: "The suggestion has been made that the Keeley cure of dipsomania be recognized by law as a reform agent, and that any man or woman convicted of crime and proven to be addicted to the intemperate use of liquor should be sent to a prison hospital and subjected to this treatment. The state of Ohio is verging toward the acceptance of this idea. Recently there was introduced in the legislature a bill for the experimental treatment of eighty-two drunkards to be chosen one each by representatives in the legislature, the governor to appoint a commission which was fo contract with a Keeley sanitarium where the legislators can bring their incipitate constituents and have them subjected to the double bichloride of gold cure at the expense of the state. When the bill passes and the efficacy of the cure is thus officially demonstrated it will not take long to secure its adoption in penal institutions. attenuated statesman, and on the occasion of an intercollegiate oratorical contest at To-peka we selected Ralph as our representative, partly because of his oratorical abilities, and mainly because of his marked resemblance to his distinguished father in appearance, ges-ticulation and that peculiar snarling voice that has so materially helped the senator to fame and fortune. The subject of Ralph's oration was, 'Kansas and Her Great Men.' After holding the andience spellbound for fifteen minutes by a matchless description of Kansas most eloquently delivered, the young fixeen minutes by a matchiess description of Kansas most eloquently delivered, the young orator dashed to pleces the hopes of his college men of winning first prize by striking one of those characteristic attitudes of his father, with his left hand resting in the bow of his back and the right extended horisontally from his elongated body, shaking the bony forefinger like a sheep's tall in fly time, and exclaiming in rasping but confident tones: 'Gentlemen, the rest of my subject is easily disposed of. Kansas has produced only two great men—John Jay Ingalls and John Brown.' He proceeded no farther, for his voice was drowned by vigorous stamping of feet and loud guffaws, in the midst of which Raiph disappeared from the stage, and with him loud guffaws, in the midst of which Raiph disappeared from the stage, and with him went our chances for the prize. On another occasion Ralph's father visited him at college and caught him smoking cigarettes. 'And so you are practicing the habit of smoking, are you, young man?' said the senator in aggrieved tones. 'No, father; not the habit, but the art,' was the son's quick reply. A merry twinkle lighted up the old man's keen gray eyes at this evidence of inherited repartee, and he concluded the lecture right there."

The Irwinton World is not the larges weekly in the state, but it is certainly one of the brightest. Especially is this brightness evident in the paragraphs on its editorial page. They are "sparklers."

They are telling a good story on the popular solicitor general of the southwestern circuit, Hon. C. B. Hudson. Last week the solicitor attended superior court in Stewart county. In the hurry of the closing hours of the court he was filling out an indictment against a party for using obscene and vulgar language in the presence of a female, and, absent-mindedly filled all the blanks in the indictment with his own name. He passed the documen up to Judge Fish, who, without noticing the solicitor's mistake, signed the warrant attached to the indictment and handed it back. The paper was duly folded and backed, "State of Georgia vs. C. B. Hudson," etc., and turned over to the sheriff with instruc-tions to "require a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $100" for the defendant's appearance in court. The solicitor took his depart-ure from the courtroom, but when the sheriff had digested the contents of that bill of indictment, he straightway went in search of him, and brought him into court and re quired him to give a one-hundred-dollar bond. It will probably be some time before the so-licitor hears the last of it.

GEORGIA POLITICAL NOTES.

The democratic campaign in northeast Georgla is certainly "getting up steam." The literature of democracy is finding its way into the homes of the people and preparations are now being arranged to make every district in that section of country blaze with the eloquence of democratic tongues and resound with the force of democratic tongues and resound with the force of democratic argument. Clarke county is not to be found lagging in the fight. President Burnett, of the Young Men's Democratic Club of Clarke county, has issued a stirring call for democratic speakers, and it will not be many days before the list will be a long one.

Prospective candidates for the legislature in Douglas county are getting numerous. The third party element proposes the following names: Dr. Burnett, of Fair Play; J. M. Brown, of Chanel Hill and provides of the Brown, of Chapel Hill, and president of the tary of the county alliance; L. Z. Dorsett, a prominent young attorney of Douglasville. Referring to these third party candidates The Douglasville New South says: "As yet the democrats seem to be moving slowly and cautiously, but when they do get down to work they will sweep Douglas like a cyclone."

The Athens Ledger says reliable information comes from Jackson county to the effect that Hon. H. W. Bell, who has been urged to accept the third party nomination for con-gress, has declined. This deprives the third party of one of its strongest supporters and greatly weakens them in Jackson county. The third party nomination is now between Winn and Twitty, against either of whom the democratic nominee can win easily.

The Thomaston Times says: "Our Pike Barnesville Gazette, nominates Judge J. S. Pope for congress, R. M. Turner for state senate and J. F. Redding for solicitor of the Flint circuit, and with these thinks Pike can feel that she has been properly recognized, and she will have reason to be proud of herself. Upon will content herself.

The Fourth Annual Congress of the Scotch-Irish.

WILL MEET AT THE CAPITOL AND WILL BE HAPPILY ENTERTAINED.

Craig Will Call the Congress to Order at Half-Past Ten O'clock

Delegates to the Scotch-Irish congress be-gan coming in yesterday, and a number argan coming in yesterday, and a number arrived last night. Among the first to come were Rev. Dr. J. S. McIntosh, of Philadelphia; Mr. W. Hugh Hunter, of Dallas Tex., late of Atlanta; Dr. McCloskie, of Princeton, and Mr. P. M. Casady, of Des Moines, vice president of the Society of Iowa.

President Bonner came in later. Mr. Casady comes here determined to take the next congress to DesMoines, and brings with him invitations from the city council of DesMoines, Governor Boles and a number of organizations in Iowa. The congress will also have an invitation from Springfield, O. Mr. George H. Frye, of that city, will present its claims and urge an acceptance. In addition to these invita-tions from Iowa and Ohio, the congress will probably have an invitation to extend its organization across the water and become international, holding its next meeting at some one of the counties of Ulster. This will be an interesting item of the business to come up.

President Bonner, the executive committee of the Scotch-Irish Society of America and the chairmen of the local committees will meet at the Kimball this morning, and from there proceed to the capitol, where the congress is to be called to order at 10 o'clock by Dr. Craig, who will call upon Governor Northen and Mayor Hemphill to President Bonner will respond in behalf of the society, and a grand speech may be expected from him. He does not make long speeches, but what he says is always to the point. He is one of the foremost business men in America, and as the owner of The New York Ledger he occupies a command-ing position among the publishers of books and periodicals.

It will be remembered that Mr. Bo is the man who offered Mr. Grady $10,000 for six newspaper articles of a column and a half each on the south. These letters, with an interesting sketch of Mr. Grady, fill a small volume which has been exten-sively circulated by Mr. Bonner. They form the best statement about the new south that Mr. Grady has left on record, and it is due to Mr. Bonner's enterprise that it was given to the public in the last year of Mr. Grady's life. Dickson in charge. The members of the Scotch-Irish Society will rendezvous at the Central Presbyterian church this morning at 10 o'clock and go ir a body from there to the capitol, which is just across the street.

The Reception Tonight.

Governor and Mrs. Northen will tender an informal reception to the Scotch-Irish congress tonight. No cards will be sent out, but a general invitation is issued through the press. All members of the Atlanta Scotch-Irish Scotety are expected to assist in the reception, and the public is invited. It will not be a dress occasion. Bome Scotch-Irish History.

RAILROAD NEWS.

COAL MEN HAVE A GRIEVANCE.

They Request Relief in the Matter of emurrage Charges-General Gossip.

The state railroad commission held an important session yesterday. Several cases were taken up and the attendance of railroad men was unusually large. Among those who were present at different times those who were present at unferent unless during the day were: Traffic Manager Fitzgerald and General Passenger Agent B. W. Wrenn, of the East Tennessee; Traffic Manager Haas and General Passenger Agent Taylor, of the Richmond and Danville; Traffic Manager Shellman and Acting General Passenger Agent Acting General Passenger Agent Hardwick, of the Central; General Passenger Agent Davidson, of the Savannah, Florida and Western; Traffic Manager Brown, of the Western and Atlantic; President J. S. Wood, of the Wrightsville and Ten-The first case taken up was the petition for a uniform and reasonable rate on excess baggage.

This petition was favored by J. Waxel-This petition was favored by J. Waxelbaum, representing the wholesale merchants of Macon, and by Roe Edwards, representing the wholesale merchants of Columbus and Atlants. President Brannan, of the S. T. A., joined issues with Messrs. Waxelbaum and Edwards in favor of a just and reasonable rates.

T. A., joined issues with Messrs. Waxelbaum and Edwards in favor of a just and reasonable rate.

Mr. Waxelbaum reviewed the grounds of the petition and showed that the Central, the Savannah, Florida and Western, and other roads charge the same rate on excess baggage for one mile that they do for sixty miles. This encourages foreign houses to enter the state, he said. Traveling men from local houses go over the state every month or two, giving to the railroads a vast amount of revenue. On account of the high charge upon excess baggage trading men often carry incomplete lines of samples. Mr. Waxelbaum stated that the leading roads of the north allow a commercial man 250 pounds of baggage and charge only a nominal excess, while in Georgia the allowance is but 150 pounds. He said that with some houses it is a question whether it would not be more profitable to withdraw their traveling men altogether because the expenses increase every year and profits decrease.

Mr. Edwards presented statistics showing their traveling men altogether because the expenses increase every year and profits decrease.

Mr. Edwards presented statistics showing how heavy the minimum charge of 25 cents per 100 pounds is on the local jobbers. The Central charges 25 cents per 100 pounds of excess for any distance up to sixty miles. Above sixty miles the charge increases gradually. The local traveling man rarely ever goes over ten or fifteen miles at a time. But each time he must pay just as much as though his jump were sixty miles. The Central railroad operates 1,388 miles. If a man were to carry six hundred pounds of excess over all that mileage in one trip his excess charge would be $37.47.

However, if he stopped at each of the 435 stations on the Central his excess would be $652.50. No extra labor is employed to handle the excess. The Savannah, Florida and Western gives 20 per cent of the excess charges to the agents who collect it. There is no uniform rate on excess baggage over the Georgia roads. Three different lines have as many different rates. The East Tennessee and the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery roads charge 10 cents per 100 of excess under twenty miles and 15 cents between twenty and thirty miles. The railroad men said that they, too, wanted a uniform rate. They made the point that the East Tennessee's rate is much less that the rate fixed by the commission for first-class freight. Merchants can take advantage of that, buy goods and ship them out in trunks at one-fourth the rate of first-class freight.

Messrs. Ed McCandless and John Mc-Candless Arrested Yesterday—Their Friends Indignant.

Mr. Ed S. McCandless, cashier of the Gate City National bank, and Mr. John McCandless, the well-known chemist, were arrested yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. For some time, it seems, the Hernado Phosphate Company has been practically at war within itself. It was an enterprise in which people throughout the state were interested. But stockholders in Marietta, Canton, Jasper and other points along the Marietta and North Georgia have sprung up an opposition against the original

The friends of Mr. Ed McCandless deplore greatly that a warrant should be placed over him, for they all know that it is totally unprovoked and undeserved.

Ed McCandless has been for years cashier of the Gate City National bank, and is known to be as incapable of the charge that has been made against him as any man alive. His service officially as cashier of the Gate City National bank and his career as a citizen characterize him as one of Atlanta's best citizens in every sense of the word.

Atlanta club, will call a meeting in the near future, some time early in May, perhaps, when all the matriculates of the university who now reside in Atlanta are expected to join the club and assist in promoting good fellowship among the men who were at one time in their lives students at the old college in Atlanta.

"It is hard to estimate the good to come of such an organization," said Mr. Jack Slaton, an old university student, yesterday. "I shall certainly join the club and do all I can to perpetuate it."

"Of course we will all join it," said Mr. Thomas R. R. Cobb, another university man who recently joined Atlanta's dozens of prosperous young lawyers, "and we must not let Savannah outdo us in manifesting a social spirit among the old college men. Atlanta should have a club with a membership something like two hundred at least."

"I very much approve the step as suggested by Judge Van Epps and Hon. Peter W. Meldrim—this organizing the university men throughout the state," said Mr. Julius Brown. "Let's get our club in good shape and let's have 'regular meetings and keep it alive."

COAL MEN'S GRIEVANCE.

The last case taken up by the commission yesterday was the petition of coal dealers for relief in the matter of demurrage. They are charged $1 per day for loaded cars detained more than forty-eight hours. They want the demurrage reduced to 50 cents a day or the time ext nded to ninety-six hours. The trouble with the complainants seemed to be that they have not room to store large quantities. It developed that some consumers have quit shipping over the East Tennessee as far as possible because of the demurrage charged.

The railroad men insisted that it would not be just to make them furnish cars for coal men to use as warehouses or supply yards. Demurrage is charged not for revenue but to get the cars unloaded promptly so that they can be kept moving and making money.

The commission appeared to be of the opinion that it could not make a rule granting the relief prayed for. At the request of the petitioners the case went over to this mcraing.

tirely and wholly unnecessary because it was nothing but a purely business transaction arising from a disagreement between stockholders in Marietta and Canton and the directors of the Hernado Phosphate Company, of Atlanta, The dissatisfaction had arisen among the Marietta and Canton stockholders and some had declined to pay their subscriptions to stock and as a last resort had alleged fraud and misrepresentation on the part of the agent, who sold stock to the Marietta and Canton people. "I was simply," Mr. McCandless went on, "acting as trustee, representing the interest of both the stockholders and the property owners, without a dollar's worth of interest in the sale of the property, my only obligation being to collect the subscriptions to stock and pay the same over to the property owners to secure a good title to the property, which has so far been faithfully complied with. Without knowing the actual facts connected with the finding of a true bill before the grand jury of Cherokee or Pickens county, I infer that the bill was found on entirely exparte evidence, furnished by dissatisfied stockholders who wished to delay or escape their paymerts to subscribed stock; or by the elastic imagination of some unprincipled person who would not hesitate to perjure his soul for a mess of pottage and by this means I was made a party t the suit."

He was removed from the big, noisy moonshiners' quarters and placed on a cot in a room adjoining the jail office. Two noonshiners were detailed to watch him. He came originally from West Point, Ga. and entered the drug business. He had the advantage of a good education, good breed-ing and good family, and he was not long in winning success. For a time he conducted a drug store in Atlanta and one in exceptional, but it was richly merited.

Several years ago Dr. Griggs contracted the drink habit. At first he drank moder the drink habit. At first he drank moderately, but the habit grew upon him, and he became a hard drinker. In consequence his business began to drop off; he lost interest in it and finally he gave up the drug business altogether.

had sued out a writ of habeas corpus he would have found no trouble in proving his sanity.

Dr. Griggs was unwilling to trust himself, however, fearing that if he were out he would give up to the temptation of drink. For two long months he remained in jail to keep out of reach of the temptation which he declared would prove too strong for him. In that time his health increased wonderfully, but the weakness for alcohol was not eradicated from his system. His meals were sent him from home regularly, and he spent the time as best he could in the gloomy prison walls.

A few days ago Dr. Griggs became impatient and decided that what he needed was medical treatment, and after thinking over the matter determined to go to the asylum, where he could receive the treatment needed, and at the same time be removed from whisky.

So everything was arranged and yesterday he was carried to Milledgeville by Deputy Sheriff Donehoo and placed in the asylum.

THE NEW YORK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

New York, April 27.—The stock market to-day was a short repetition of that of yesterday and reflected only apathy of the operators and the prevailing temper among the professional and room traders. Prices today were weak from opening to close, while as was to be expected from the limited volume of business fluctuations as a rule were without significance. Few stock were made special marks for bear attacks, however, and these shares showed both more animation and wider ranges of prices. The attack upon Rock Island, which was started last evening, was continued and a further loss of 11-2 per cent followed, while an announcement of breaking off of the negotiations for the control of a rival property gave another opportunity to sell cordage down and its decline was equally as large as that in Rock Island. Other Grangers and especially Burlington suffered with Rock Island, but while such stocks as Reading and Atchison rolled up a large total of ransactions, changes in quotations were small. The attitude of London on the market at present has a marked effect upon the policy of the professional element, and the sale by that center of its favorites, including Erie, gave much encouragement to drive at values and prevented any recovery of note. The first hour saw most of the lowest prices reached, but railies were feeble, even after lifting of the pressure to sell and the close was fairly active and heavy at or near the lowest prices of the day. The final changes are almost invariably losses, but for small fractions in most cases, while Rock Island lost 11-4; Cordage, 11-8 and Burlington, b per cent. Sales, listed, 27,000 shares; unilsted, 1,000 shares.

NEW YORK, April 27—Liverpool has again reflected the acute condition of the labor troubles in Lancashire, and came to us this morning about 3-84d lower, our friends telling us that the outcome of the present dispute between the master spinners and their employes is still very doubtful, and what at first did not promise to be anything serious may become so if not soon settled. It is just one of these unfortunate accidents which somehow or other occur when least sypected, and the bearing this time upon cotton has been quite marked; and, saide from this, the tendency of the article is to better things. In fact, there are cables here today speaking of new investment buying of the actual cotton in the English markets. FAR FROM IT.

Each and every garment that is ordered in our house goes through a careful course of cutting, trimming and making, and here is where the art comes in. To know just what kind and style of Coat looks the best on this or that shaped man. To select the proper trimmings for the goods, see that they are well matched, and improve the general appearance of the garment when finished. Then the cutting comes, and there is where the art comes in. A man that thoroughly understands his trade. Not a school cutter, but one who has been raised from the bench up; one that understands every detail, and who can pick a flaw in the tailoring of a garment at sight. He not only can cut you a perfect-fitting garment, but the style and expression is there. A thorough cutter of this kind has no trouble to select thorough tailors, men that understand their business. We have just such a cutter. He has employed just such tailors. He has employed a trimmer of years' experience who has exquisite taste. With people of this kind back of us with all the advantages possible to secure choice goods at the lowest prices, why can we not please you? Well, we can. Just give us a trial. That is all we ask. We can please you not only in style, fit and workmanship, but in PRICES. See our line of $20 and $25 Suitings. Our $5 and $6 Trouserings. They are winners.

BY A DECISION OF THE SUPREME COURT

Was Judge Gober's Calculation Correct?
This Question to Be Submitted to an Auditor.

Steve Ryan has a chance for liberty, The supreme court has given him a new trial on the question of contempt. That is what the decision announced by the sune court yesterday is understood to working day, and at the beginning of it, the court announced this decision.

The justices of the supreme court seem o have had no trouble whatever in coming to a conclusion on this question. The argument was only concluded late Monadjourned in respect to the memory of the confederate dead. Yesterday was the next working day, and at the beginning of it, the court announced this decision. The Decision Given.

The Decision Given.

Here is the decision:
Ryan v. Kingsbery, Receiver, et al. Contempt.
Res adjudicata. Diligence. Practice. Directions. Before Judge Marshall J. Clarke. Fulton superior court.

1. According to the principle ruled by this court in Thweatt v. Kiddoo, 58 Ga. 300, after a remedial proceeding for contempt has been reviewed and affirmed by the Supreme Court, all defenses or excuses which were or might have been presented are res adjudicata. See Com'rs of Wilson Co. v. McIntosh, 30 Kan. 234; 1 Freem. on Judg. section 326.

2. In the present case, no material matter was presented in the petition for a rehearing which could not have been adduced by the use of due diligence before the judgment attaching the party for contempt was rendered. Three was no abuse of discretion in dismissing the petition.

3. Inasmuch as it is contrary to the spirit of the constitution and laws of this state to detain any person in prison who is unable by reason of his poverty to pay money into court or deliver the same to a receiver; and inasmuch as no person should be so detained if there is ground for any reasonable doubt of his ability, the doctrine of res adjudicata cannot be invoked or used to make imprisonment perpetual.

4. Exercising the power conferred upon this court by the code, section 4294, direction is hereby given to the judge of the superior court of Fulton county that if, in his discretion, he shall think the ends of justice so require, he refer it to a master or auditor to take testimony and report to him as to the amount of money or other assets in the hands or under the control of Stephen A. Ryan, and as to his ability to comply with the order of July 28, 1891, requiring him to surrender to the receiver the sum of $120,490.70, and that upon reception of the report, the said judge do consider the same and take such action thereon with reference to the discharge or further detention of said Ryan as, in the exercise of his discretio

Brown and J. L. Brown, for plaintiff in error.

Calhoun, King & Spaiding, N. J. & T. A. Hammond, J. H. Lumpkin, Rosser & Carter, Culberson & Hunt, et al., contra.

One fact which is interesting in this connection is that in considering the former appeal on the contempt feature of the case, the supreme court declined to go into the merits of Judge Gober's finding as to the amount of Mr. Ryan's assets. They did so on the ground that the evidence on that point was not brought up by brief, as required by law.

So the supreme court did not then go into the merits of Judge Gober's calculation. They presumed that this finding as to the amount of assets was correct, and what they then passed upon was the right of the judge to imprison a man for contempt in case he had the assets and failed to deliver them up when ordered by the court to do so.

Now the matter comes up in a new shape.

the court to do so.

Now the matter comes up in a new shape.
Judge Hopkins had made another attempt before Judge Marshall Clarke for a hearing of the merits of the case of contempt.
Judge Clarke held that Judge Gober had just been over the same ground and settled the question by his finding of $120,000 in the possesion of Steve Ryan, and sending him to jail for refusing to deliver that sum to the receiver. It was, as the lawyers say, "res adjudicata," or somthing settled, and Judge Clarke held that he could not go into it and unsettle it. go into it and unsettle it.

go into it and unsettle it.

Now the supreme court says Judge Clarke, was correct in saying the question was "res adjudicata," but that "res adjudicata" won't keep a man in jail if there is a reasonable doubt that he is guilty of the contempt charged.

dicata" won't keep a man in jail it there is a reasonable doubt that he is guilty of the contempt charged.

In other words, they think that Steve Ryan should have a chance to show whether or not he had the $120,000.

Not only that, they intimate that he may show whether or not he now has that sum, or is now unable to deliver it. The last idea is a new feature of the case. It allows for the change which time may have wrought in Steve Ryan's affairs. The past nine months have covered about the hardest times in twenty years, and as they have affected most everybody, they may have affected Steve Ryan.

Another feature is their direction of a reference to an auditor, if Judge Clarke sees proper. Owing to the condition of the evidence, the supreme court did not go into the amount of assets. Now it seems that they would like to see that ground gone over again.

May Get Out on Bond.

Mr. Ryan's attorneys will make an effort to get him out on bond at once.

The application for bail will probably be presented to Judge Clarke Saturday, and it is likely that he will fix bail at about the same amount as fixed before.

The case is in almost the same condition as it was before when Ryan was allowed beil Ryan's attorneys are very hopeful and if bail is allowed there will be no trouble in getting the bond signed. What Will Steve Do ?

What Will steve Do?

Judge Hopkins was asked yesterday how he understood the decision.

"It means that we will have a new trial on the question of contempt," said he.

"What will be your next move?"

"I can't tell. The auditor will be appointed under the direction of the court. The case will come up in the supreme court next Saturday, and I will make a motion then."

Now the question is, was Judge Gober's calculation correct? Upon that depends Steve Ryan's freedom.

This is what the auditor will have to decide. The auditor may be Mr. Henry Peeples, who is the auditor in another branch of the case, or it may be some one

J. M. Bentley & Co. in Trouble.

J. M. Bentley & Co. in Trouble.

J. M. Bentley & Co., commission men and grocers, have gone under.

The superior court has been asked to appoint a receiver for the firm of J. M. Bentley & Co., and from the statements in the bill filed in the clerk's office yesterday, it appears that the firm is in deep water. On Monday a mortgage on their stock was foreclosed by the Atlanta Talc and Soapstone Manufacturing Company, and yesterday some of the crediting for the appointment of a receiver and the granting of an inunction to stop holders of mortgages from proceeding with the sale of the property. The petition was filed by Bishop & McWhorter, C. D. Maddox and Walter R. Brown, representing the Burgwyn Bros. Tobacco Company, the Woolson Spice Company, the Atlanta Beef Company, Koch, Reuter & Co. and N. K. Fairbank & Co., who hold claims respectively of $209, $94.25, $32.50, $74.25 and $163.35.

The firm began business about the 1st of mortgages for $650 and $225 on the stock of goods, real estate notes and accounts, etc., and J. H. & A. I. James have a mortgage for $2,000 on notes and accounts, the bill alleges, contrary to law. The creditors who filed the bill claim that J. H. & A. L. James and the Talc company have other collateral security sufficient to make their claims out of without these mortgages, and the bill claims that the mortgages are void and tainted with usury.

The case will come up before Judge Marshall J. Clarke next Saturday.

The case will come up before Judge Marshall J. Clarke next Saturday.

The Poisoning Case.

The criminal branch of the superior court was engaged yesterday with the case of Sarah Johnson, the colored cook who is charged with poisoning Mr. Paul Romare's family.

The jury was secured about 11 o'clock, and Mr. Romare was introduced. He described the sudden sickness of his family on the morning of March 22d, and gave an account of the matter about as it was described in The Constitution at the time.

Dr. J. C. Olmsfead told how he found the family sick with symptoms of poisoning, and took the coffee to Mr. John McCandless to analyze. Mr. McCandless testified that he found in the bottom of the coffee can a while powder slightly colored with dust, and containing 92 per cent of arsenic. Rough on Rats contains something of 99 per cent of arsenic.

Mrs. Romare testified that she offered the cook some breakfast with coffee that morning, and she refused it, saying her husband had given her breakfast. Captain Crim testified that, on the same morning, the cook told him the same thing, but her husband told him he had not given her breakfast.

The house girl testified that she saw Sarah shake her first at Mrs. Romare when her back was turned, just after she had discharged Sarah the evening before the poisoning.

Miss Marie Romare testified that, on the afternay haffore the restified that, on the discharged Sarah the evening before the poisoning.

Miss Marie Romare testified that, on the afternoon before the poisoning, Sarah had said to her: "I'm not going to hurt you," to which she replied, "You would not hurt any of us, would you?" and the cook said again "I am not going to hurt you."

An amusing feature of the evidence was brought out by the attempt of the defense to show the possibility that poisal might have gotten into the provisions some other way than by malice. To rebut this, Solicitor Hill, prefacing his question with an apology, asked Miss Marie Romare whether arsenic was ever used by young ladies to beautify the complexion, and whether she used it. She replied that it was frequently used by young ladies, but never by herself or her sisters.

Mrs. Romare testified that she had never allowed Rough on Rats in the house.

The meeting at Birmingham, on May 3d, of alliance presidents and executive committees, is all the talk in third party circles.

The third party men place such constructions upon the purpose of the meeting as bieses them best.

But Mr. Harry C. Brown, who has all along been regarded as a warm third party man, has gotten down to quite a different bottom of the matter from any of the other third party men.

"It is not for the purpose," says Mr. Brown, "of going into the third party in a lump, at all. That's not the purpose of the meeting at Birmingham—far from it. The purpose of the meeting is:

"The third party is absorbing the strength of the alliance and threatens to entirely destroy it. The rank and file of the third party is identical with that of the alliance, and those alliancemen who are going so warmly and enthusiastically into the third party are losing interest in the alliance. The leaders have seen that the existence of the alliance is threatened by this absorption, and the Birmingham meeting is for the purpose of calling a halt. The leaders want the alliance perserved, and, while they have no objection to alliancemen voting for and supporting the third party, they do see in the enthusiastic way alliancemen have gone into the third party, they do see in the enthusiastic way alliancemen have gone into the third party."

In meeting is called for the purpose, not of discouraging the third party—I don't say that—but to discourage alliancemen in the idea of giving up their organization for a third party club, and devoting the time and energy heretofore used in building up the alliance is concerned, but there are Thomases who doubt whether the powers that be in alliance circles would take any steps toward rescuing the alliance from the third party."

President Polk is a warm third partyite, and it is believed that he would not object to exchanging the alliance for a big healthy third party which would ride him into office.

third party which would ride him into office.

Mr. Harry C. Brown has been regarded as a beacon light in the third party by the adherents of that party, but they have been reckoning without their host.

Mr. Brown is not a third party man. In his fight for the retention of Mr. Irwin, as editor of The Southern Alliance Farmer, he was not so much influenced by his preference for the third party as he was by his antagonism to Colonel Livingston.

The sanguine third party then who have been counting on Mr. Brown were counting their "chickens before they were

Will Watson Come? A rumor has been afloat for several days to the effect that there would be a joint debate, in Jackson county, next Tuesday, between Congressmen Watson and Livingston. It is all bought from one dairy, situated in the blue grass country and hence, always uniform; always of that fine, rich color and flavor which blue grass alone imparts to fine butter. We receive it often and as soon as it is received it is put up in one-pound cakes, wrapped in linen paper and put in our refrigerator, and is delivered to your house clean and firm. Now, is it not a treat to have no more poor butter, no more stale butter, but instead always the same high grade Jersey? We are furnishing that high quality of butter every day and can supply you. Ask any of our many pleased customers about our butter and then take their advice and come and do likewise, and the butter problem will trouble you no longer.

Another treat is our Rijamo Coffee. We call it a treat because nothing is more exhitarating and enjoyable than a cup of fine coffee, and our Hijamo is the highest grade coffee that can be found. It is a combination of the finest coffees, so blended as to give a coffee of the finest aroma and of the best flavor. It is always sold at 35 cents per pound; as cheap as you can buy a lower grade of coffee elsewhere.

Regal Patent Flour. Another treat is our Regal Patent Flour, made from the best wheat; it has all of the nutritious qualities of the wheat in it. It never fails to make the lightest and whitest of rolls, and is especially fine for pastry. We have hundreds of customers who extol its merits, and we have never heard of one who was not pleased with it. Try one sack or leaves

The principal causes of decay in meats and

The principal causes of decay in meats and fruits are dampness and varying temperature, causing the expansion and contraction of tissues, which hasten decay; hence a dry atmosphere and uniform temperature conduce to their preservation.

These results can be obtained only by a perfect circulation of the air in the refrigerator, and its condensation in the ice chamber.

The Alaska is constructed upon strictly scientific principles, by which low temperature and dryness of air are naturally and inevitably obtained.

Most refrigerators are so constructed that

Most refrigerators are so constructed that rapors from various kinds of food are chilled to bead drops of water within the provision chamber. Hence such refrigerators are always damp and deleterious to health.

The Alaska, by its perfect system of warm and cold-air flues, allows nature's principle, that warm air rises and cold air falls, to work in a more complete manner than any other in a more complete manner than any other refrigerator built.

in a more complete manner than any other refrigerator built.

The ice rests on a corrugated, galvanized iron rack, which is so constructed as to leave an air passage under the Iron.

The warm, damp air in the provision chamber rises through the flues at each end of the ice chamber, comes in centact with the ice at the central opening in the lid flue, becomes colder and drops under the ice rack, where all moisture is condensed, and falls through the central opening under the ice into the provision chamber, cold and dry. No other system keeps the air as long in contact with the ice as the Alaska does, consequently the Alaska does its work more thoroughly than any other refrigerator.

In the ALASKA no vapors are allowed to remain, but, by a perfect circulation of air, they are drawn through the flues into the ice chest and condensed there.

By thus removing the vapor all odor is removed—for the odor is fa the vapor—and dry, pure, cold air falls into the provision chamber.

The provision chamber of the ALASKA never coats from condensation, but is always clean and free from foul odor.

The ALASKA has become noted for being entirely free from mould or mildew, or unpleasant odors, regardless of the length of time perishable articles of food may have been kept in it. The ALASKA is the best refrigerator in the market, in construction, in power to preserve perishables, in economy of ice, and, in fact, in all the points necessary to make them first-class in every respect.

ON TO THE SEA.

The Okeefenokee Waters to Be Liber-

THEY WILL FLOW TO THE OCEAN.

Captain Jackson and a Large Company of Ladies and Gantlemen Going Down to Witness the Opening.

The damned up waters of famous old Okefenokee swamp will be turned loose in freedom to run on to the blue waves of the Atlantic next week.

Captain Harry Jackson, of the company of capitalists which has purchased the swamp, will go down there next week to be present when the waters will be turned out through the canal that has been cut nearly across to the St. Mary's river. Captain Jackson has invited a large company of Atlanta people to accompany him down to witness the grand sight and to spend a week or two seeing the picturesque old swamp and the country around it. This clearing and draining of the Okefe nokee swamp is the most stupendous work that has been undertaken in Georgia for many a day. It is a study to be sure, and is a work in which everybody in this part of the southern states is very much inter long and nearly thirty miles wide, has for years and years been a wilderness of woods, water, mud, alligators and what not. It has been impenetrable and has always been called the wonder of south Georgia. The fact that such a spot has caught the eye of capital—a spot where once nothing obtruded upon great nature's meditation save the hooting of the owl or the grunting of the lazy alligator-and the further fact that it is being transformed into a busy scene of industry and progress, with saw-mills spinning and freight boats adrift all conspire to make this an interesting study to the scientist and the progressive citizen.

What Has Been Done.

"What has your company been doing down in that wilderness all this time, captain?" asked The Constitution of Captain Jackson yesterday.

"We have been steadily at work cutting a canal out from the eastern border of the swamp leading out to St. Mary's river, so as to secure direct connection with the steamboats that ply to and fro the Atlantic." What do you want this canal connection for?"

"To drift timber out so that we can get

"To drift timber out so that we can get easy transportation."

"How long is the canal?"

"About six miles. You see, the St. Mary's river runs out from the swamp at the southeastern corner, but turns upward and runs back towards the eastern bank of the swamp to within six miles of its very banks. At this point we are cutting the canal."

"Is the canal intended to drain the swamp as well as serve the purpose of drifting timber?"

"No; not yet. We are not desirous of draining the swamp perfectly dry yet. That would ruin our timber interests; it would not only prevent drifting but would kill most of the timber in the swamp, the cypress in which, of course, would not live without the water."

To Turn It Loose.

water.

"To Turn It Loose.

"Then you are going down to have the stagnant water turned out to the sea?"

"Well, we haven't as yet quite completed our canal. We have gone as far with it as mules and men can go, owing to the water that comes into it by capillary attraction, and now we are going to lay aside mules and pickaxes and will see what electricity and dynamite will do for us."

"How will you work the electricity and dynamite racket in that place, captain?"

"We are going to put tremendous loads of dynamite all under the earth the balance of the distance of the canal that is yet not cut and will connect each load with wires and will touch it off with electricity. It will all go off at once with a thundering explosion, tearing away the earth, and instantaneously the gigantic pumps will be throwing water into the canal at a fearful rate, thus giving a very effective washout. The work is something immense and you cannot fancy at all accurately what it is unless you could go and see it with your own eyes."

The Timber Inexhaustive.

"When do you hope to start the tim-ber moving?"
"Just as soon as we can get the canal "Just as soon as we can get the canal opened fairly."

"There is enough timber in the swamp to more than pay for it, isn't there?"

"Indeed, yes!"

"When you have cleared the timber, does your company intend to look for phosphates?"

"Maybe so, yes."

"Do you think there is much phosphate there?"

"We have no means of ascertaining defi-nitely, yet. We have been told by sci-entists who studied the swamp's geology that there is a good deal of phosphate there.

That will come as a secondary considera-tion, however, timber being first." SOME CHARMING LECTURES.

Atlanta, Ga., April 26, 1892.—Editor Constitution: Recently it has been my privilege to visit the mountains of North Carolina and I spent ten days at Jarnett's Station, on the Western North Carolina railroad, catching mountain trout, hunting squirrels, qualis, pheasants and turkeys. I wish I had time and space to give your readers some idea of the glorious sport a true disciple of Nimrod can have in the Nantahala mountains, but that is impossible. I can only say, go and try it, friend, and you will return full of the praises of that wonderful country. But there is one thing I desire to say to the readers of The Constitution. You have seen the advertisements of the property in these mountains, owned by the Nantahala Marble and Tale Company. You have read what Colonel McBride has to say about it; but the half has never been told.

At first you are attracted by the lofty and almost perpendicular mountains and the rushing, leapling, foaming river, and you are tempted to stand for hours and gaze in wonder and admiration at the grand and Imposing picture. But when you realize that on either side of that lovely valley the mountains are built of marble, slate and tale, and that one mountain coming down to the railroad track and the very river bed, stands a solid mass of finest marble, 520 feet high and 1,200 feet broad; you are truly overcome with the storchouse of wealth. Then in addition to this giant hard wood trees. That majestic river, in only a few hundred yards, affords 12,000 horse power for the manufacture of tie wealth of this favored land. Every particle of marble, tale and slate can be quarried, handled, manufactured and shipped without ever touching it with the hand. The power is right there and everything can be done by machine
